| 09:45–10:00                                      | Welcome to the morning sessions &amp; introduction by the PDW 07 organizers   |
| 10:00–11:00                                      | Session 1 Panel discussion: “Managing the Academic Career after your PhD” Panellists: Virpi Sorsa, Martin Friesl, Rebecca Bednarek, Carola Wolf &amp; Winston Kwon This session will start with short presentations of the panellists about their choices and paths following the completion of their respective PhDs and reflections on their experiences. We will be addressing a variety of themes such as: proceeding from PhD to a post-doc position vs. directly starting as assistant professor; teaching vs research focus; going abroad vs. staying close to your PhD school, etc. The presentations will be followed by an open discussion. |
| 11:00–11:30                                      | Coffee break  |
| 11:30–12:30                                      | Session 2: Round tables with the panellists from Session 1   |
| 12:30–14:00                                      | Lunch break   |
| PART II: Afternoon sessions – 14:00–17:00 |  |
| 13:45–14:00                                      | Registration [for participants only joining for the afternoon sessions]  |
| 14:00–14:10                                      | Welcome to the afternoon sessions &amp; introduction by the PDW 07 organizers   |
| 14:10–15:30                                      | Session 3: Workshop: “The Practice of Qualitative Research” Panellists: Ann Langley, Loizos Heracleous, Paula Jarzabkowski &amp; Curtis LeBaron This session will begin with presentations by experienced and well-published SAP scholars discussing topics related to qualitative research that are generally overlooked in conventional research textbooks, for example, writing up multiple longitudinal cases in a single paper, co-creating qualitative research, how to make data come alive in papers, etc. --- After these presentations, participants will be assigned to round tables with the presenters according to interests.           |
| 15:30–16:00                                      | Coffee break  |
| 16:00–16:45                                      | Session 4: “Armchair career chat” with senior SAP scholars Panellists: Linda Rouleau &amp; Eero Vaara In this final part of the SAP Community Day, we will try out a novel format designed as a more informal interview style chat on the panellists’ careers sharing some anecdotes and lessons learnt on the way. We hope that this session will provide an opportunity to reflect on critical moments in their careers (e.g. how did they come into academia; how did their research agenda and collaborations evolve, etc.) and thus share some key insights with participants.   |
| 16:45–17:00                                      | Closing Comments by the PDW organizers  |
